TURKS SUFFER CRUSHING DEFEAT

Four Days Battle Results in Great
Triumph for Bulgarians—Peace
May Follow.

London, Oct. 31.—A four days battle in Thrace has ended in the triumph of the Bulgarian commander in chief, Gen. Savoff, whose skillful strategy has probably brought to a close one of the shortest and most reckless wars of record.

A great Turkish army, estimated at over 200,000 men, has been defeated and is in retreat.

Constantinople is believed to be at the mercy of the victorious Bulgarian army, and a council sitting at the port is discussing the advisability of suing for peace.

Such is the news which comes from Constantinople.

It is only a fortnight since Turkey declared war. The first week of the campaign closed with the dramatic fall of Kirk-Kilissen, fully revealing for the first time the disorganization, bad morale and inefficient commissariat of the Turkish army. Today that army is defeated, routed within fifty miles of Constantinople and possibly its retreat within the capital's line of defense is cut off.

Only the briefest and vaguest accounts of the great battle have yet been received, for the war has been especially reckless in that not a single war correspondent has been allowed at the front except in the case of the little Montenegrin campaign against Scutari.

Thus no independent personal narratives of the absorbing events have been possible and the world has had to depend on biased official accounts provided by the respective governments or confused details supplied by wounded soldiers.

Apparently Nazim Pasha has been completely out-manuevered by Savoff's skill. The Bulgarian turning movement along the Black Sea Coast now appears to have been a feint, which induced the Turkish commander to throw his main army to the eastward to such effect that the Bulgarian force on this side had the greatest difficulty in holding the Turks in check.

In fact, this point seems a little in doubt. The Bulgarians gave way and thus enabled Nazim Pasha to report to Constantinople some success in this direction.

In the meantime, however, Gen. Savoff hurled his great strength against the Turks' weakened left wing, which he crushed in at Luleburgas. The fighting along the whole front, which evidently has been of the most stubborn and determined character, was carried on day and night without intermission, and both sides lost heavily.

The capture of Nazim Pasha's headquarters at Tcholar, to which town the defeated Turks retreated, has not as yet been reported, but it is hourly expected at Sofia. In this event the Turks will be forced within the defensive lines of Tchatalja, the only remaining fortified position protecting Constantinople. It lies twenty-five miles to the northwest of the capital.

Adrianople still holds out, but has lost its importance now that the Turks have met their Sedan at Luleburgas.

It is believed a peace settlement will be arranged either by the Porte suing for peace, or through intervention of the Powers. And an interesting question involving difficult diplomatic problems will immediately arise as to the division of the spoils of war—a question concerning not only the victorious allies, but also Russia, Austria, Roumania and possibly other Powers.

The campaign of the other Balkan States continues with the success which throughout has attended them. Scutari has not yet been captured, but Ipek has fallen to the Montenegrins. The Servians have taken Pristina, and Greece is occupying the islands in the Aegean Sea, in addition to various towns in Macedonia.

The Powers, fearing disorders and massacres in Turkey, are hurrying warships to the various ports of the country to protect foreign residents.

A noticeable feature of the war is the insignificant parts played by the Turkish and Greek fleets.

Wanted: An Efficient President.

In considering the qualifications of each of the applicants for the Presidency of the United States, it behooves us to take care to select a man who will be able to act in harmony with his assistants.

Nothing is more embarrassing or more detrimental to the progress of an enterprise than to have the head of such enterprise at daggers' points with his colleagues. Considered in this light, the question should prove easy to answer.

President Taft came into office hailed as a great peacemaker. His rampaging predecessor changed cabinet officers as readily as he changed clothes. Whenever there was a mistake, to be patched up, some head had to fall. During the latter period of his term of office, his recommendations were ignored by Congress, and he in turn ignored the legislation of the people's representatives.

As a peacemaker, Mr. Taft has proved to be a great failure from the very start. The whole country was shocked by the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, with the result that today the Republican party is hopelessly split asunder.

The Democrats came into majority in the House, and, notwithstanding all prophecy to the contrary, they are working together in superb harmony. They have passed more constructive legislation during their comparatively brief tenure than perhaps the country ever before witnessed in a like period. Were it not for the outrageous abuse of the vetoing power on the part of the executive the country would at present be enjoying relief from excessive tariffs and many other evils that we are obliged to suffer.

Without doubt Governor Wilson will be able to bring about the much needed reforms because he will have the undivided support of a Democratic congress.

To Discuss Endowed Newspapers.

Berkeley, Calif., Nov. 1.—The annual debate between teams representing Leland Stanford, J. University and the University of California takes place here this evening, and promises to be one of the interesting events of the college year. The subject is: "Resolved, That the State of California Should Establish a Series of Endowed, Non-Partisan General Newspapers."

COLORADO TO VOTE ON MANY MEASURES

Denver, Colo., Nov. 1.—The Colorado voter certainly has his work cut out for him when he goes to the polls next Tuesday. He will be given an opportunity to express his preference for two United States senators, as well as representatives in congress, governor and all other state officers and numerous judicial, county and local officials. Independent appear on the ballot for many of the offices, in addition to the nominees of half a dozen regular parties and political factions.

In addition to the national, congressional, state and county tickets, the voter is expected to register his opinion for or against thirty-two measures submitted under the initiative and referendum. Proposals for state-wide prohibition and the recall of all elective officials, including judges, are regarded as the most important of the measures to be voted on. Other measures submitted under the initiative and referendum are those providing for a mother's compensation act, the extension of the civil service to all state, county and city offices, the use of public school houses as social centers, an eight-hour day for women, the abolition of constructive contempt of court, the establishment of a state fair, home rule for cities of over 20,000 population, and a $10,000,000 bond issue for good roads.

NOTES FROM THE LABOR WORLD

The British Columbian Federation of Labor has a membership somewhat more than sixteen thousand. Societies affiliated with the British General Federation of Trade Unions have 900,000 members.

There is a movement on foot to provide cottage dwellings for workmen of the tramway department, of Glasgow, Scotland.

All the structures erected by the Panama-Pacific international exposition will be built under strictly union conditions.

Spanish railways whose employees are on strike are willing to grant the men's demands if the government will grant a subsidy or permit an increase of freight rates.

The largest trade union in the world composed entirely of women is said to be the Cotton Operatives' Union of Lancashire, England, which boasts of a membership of 80,000.

The state of Minnesota conducts a free employment bureau, which, during the last year, in three cities of the state, has obtained positions for 59,473 persons, at a total expense of $10,000.

A vigorous policy of agitation for state ownership of British mines was announced by President Robert Smilie at the annual meeting of the Miners' Federation of the United Kingdom.

After an exhaustive investigation, the United States Labor Bureau has concluded that $900 a year is the lowest wage on which an American workman can support a family and maintain his efficiency as a worker.

Statistical reports show that during the last year the causes of sickness and accidents caused by nature of the employment of workmen in the United States totaled 13,400,000, entailing a wage loss of $366,000,000.

Whereas the average weekly consumption of bread among the working classes of America is eight and a quarter pounds to a family, the figure for the same class of family in the United Kingdom is nearly three times as large.

The Massachusetts Federation of Labor has passed a resolution demanding that the Legislature pass a bill calling for a Saturday half holiday without loss of pay the year round for all laborers and mechanics in the employ of the commonwealth.

A. R. Sugg made a business trip to Sasakwa this morning.

58 ADDITIONAL VOTERS REGISTERED

That a full vote will be cast at the coming election is indicated by the fact that since the registration books were opened about ten days ago, 58 voters have registered. Of these 14 were in the first ward, 11 in the second, 15 in the third and 18 in the fourth.

Mme. Albani 60 Years Old.

London, Nov. 1.—Mme. Albani, for many years one of the world's most famous singers, received a flood of felicitous messages from friends and admirers today on the occasion of her sixtieth birthday anniversary. Among the senders of congratulations were King George, Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra, with each of whom Mme. Albani has always been a great favorite, as she was also with the late Queen Victoria, who entertained her frequently at Balmoral. Mme. Albani was born and raised near Montreal and still likes to call herself a Canadian, though England has been her home these many years. Her last public appearance was made at the Royal Albert Hall a year ago, when a grand testimonial was given to mark her farewell of the concert stage. Recently the great singer has suffered some severe financial losses and there is talk among her friends of giving another great concert in London for her benefit.

TWO ARRESTS FOR KATY HOLDUP

Two arrests for Katy rob... Muskogee, Ok., Nov. 1.—Joe Davis, son of Jack Davis, of 705 South Third street, and Buck Berthold, who at one time was employed on the Davis ranch near Porum, were arrested at Blocker today by Sheriff Tatum of Pittsburg county as suspects in connection with the robbery of the Katy Limited on October 29. They are now confined in the county jail at McAlester. The arrest was made Wednesday night by Sheriff Tatum and his deputies when the two Muskogee men rode into Blocker on horse back. They were placed behind the bars of the McAlester jail shortly after 2 o'clock. Warrants are also out for the arrest of three others who are under suspicion.

Sheriff Tatum, who made the arrest declined to give out any information as to what evidence he had against them. They were searched at Crowder and no money was found on them. The two men were locked up in different cells and will be kept so confined until they are sweated. This will be done during the afternoon, as a bunch of detectives and express and railroad employees are now on their way to McAlester to see if they can identify the suspects.

Wichita Falls Extension.

Denison, Tex., Nov. 1.—The new extension of the Katy Wichita Falls & Northwestern from Woodward to Morgan, Okla., will be opened for traffic by the railroad tomorrow. This extension is 85 miles in length and will open a new rich country for the Katy that will add much value to the lines. The extension has been in construction since construction by the construction company but they did very little business, in fact practically only that which was used by their own company.

The 85-mile extension puts the Katy that much closer to Denver, a city which they have been headed for for several years and which it is said a line will be constructed to in the near future. The new line, which has been under construction during the past year, cost over a million dollars and will open up a new route out of Denison to Oklahoma points.

C. E. Schaff, president and W. A. Webb, vice-president of the Katy, are now making a tour of inspection of the line and will remain in that section until after tomorrow when they will officially take it over.

Colorado for Wilson by 50,000.

New York, Nov. 1.—Chairman Bradley of Colorado in a telegram to Democratic Headquarters claims that state for Wilson by between 40,000 and 50,000.

Chairman Bradley says that in no county in the State has the Democratic party lost any of its strength and has been making gains in all districts.

NATION-WIDE BAN ON DRINKING CUP

Washington, Nov. 1.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh with one swoop today abolished the time-honored public drinking cup from railroad cars, vessels and other conveyances operated in interstate traffic and from depots and waiting rooms of common carriers.

This sweeping order against "any drinking cup, glass or vessel for common use," effective immediately, is in the interest of the nation's health and was the direct result of an investigation by the public health service—a branch of the treasury department—which holds the drinking cup to be a menace as a carrier of disease. A drinking cup, it is said, may contain thousands of bacteria from disease-infected persons.

Mr. MacVeagh's action constituted an amendment to the interstate quarantine regulations. Sherman Allen, assistant secretary of the treasury, stirred by the revelations of the public health service and the fact that twenty-six states already have laws forbidding the use of the common drinking cup, recommended the move to MacVeagh and was supported by the solicitor of the treasury department as to the secretary's legal power to make the order.

Roosevelt probably declared himself for woman suffrage because Taft had once told a bunch of suffragists that he did not favor their movement. Teddy probably thought he would thus be able to grab them.

The Republican campaign howlers extol President Taft for vetoing a tariff bill that would have put cereals on the free list, giving this as evidence of how the farmers are being protected. The veriest moonshine but just in line with other arguments designed to fool the farmers. In view of the fact that this is a nation that produces more cereals than it consumes and must export millions of bushels every year, what good does a tariff do on farm products, anyway? About all the farmers import in that line is fine seed, and under present conditions they must pay duty on that. However, that is the republican idea of protecting the farming classes. Hold them up going and coming.

Some little frost appeared last night and if the wind stops a heavy one will probably come tonight.

Bullets from the guns of the soldiers who practice on the government rifle range at Peckskill have completely cut away a row of large trees in the hills back of the targets. Range officers say that seventy-six forest monarchs have been thus sacrificed to the Springfield of the military.

Cotton has been on the rise slightly today and has been selling on the street around 11.50. It is now back towards the early level and with about half the crop yet to be marketed, it will be readily seen that many thousands of dollars above the amount left here last season will be brought in this year. As a result of the rain Thursday only a small number of bales was brought in today. Mrs. J. T. Conn is entertaining the Bridge Club this afternoon.

How a Snob Was Manufactured.

In the November Woman's Home Companion is an article entitled "What is Aristocracy" in which appears an account of a girl of good but poor family, whose parents brought her up in such a way that she was bound finally to become ashamed of her own father and mother. An extract follows:

"She and her husband saved and skimped and denied themselves all to one end—to educate their daughter, as far as they could, for the 'best society.' The woman tells me quite simply that she took pains to tell her daughter from the time she was a little girl that she was born to better things. She writes: 'I never let her forget that she had something to live up to. I used to tell her about my mother's people. They were the best people of the town I lived in in the East. I would have been ashamed to have any one of them see the way we had had to live for years. 'Those are your people,' I used to tell her. 'I don't want you ever to forget it. I want you to live up to them. I don't intend you shall have the same sort of life I've had. You belong to the best society. I don't want you to put up with any less, the way I've had to.'"

"Well, the pennies were saved, and the end long desired was attained. It was decided that the girl should not go to college after all, but rather to an eastern boarding school, a finishing school, where she would be taught those things which would fit her for the best society, and where she would make friends. I hardly need tell you the end of the story. The girl fitted for the 'best class' was unfitted for any other class. The following paragraph tells enough:

"We have slaved, James and I, to give her every advantage, just slaved. I wanted her to go in the best society, but I did not want her to be ashamed of us. And that's what she is, there is no use mincing matters. She is ashamed of us. And the very worst of it is, I can't blame her. I'm ashamed of ourselves. I haven't a bit of style about me. I'm a dowdy sort of person; that's all I am. James would look a sight among my kind of people back there in the East, and so would I. She is in love with a young man in the East, and he is in love with her; and I don't want to see him. He belongs to one of the best families, and I'm thankful for that; but it would kill me, I think, to have him come out here, and have him and her to be ashamed of James and me. And that is exactly what would happen."

EFFECT OF BRYAN'S OKLAHOMA TOUR

Oklahoma City, Nov. 1.—There is no longer any apathy in Democratic ranks in Oklahoma. The party is aroused not only to interest but to a high pitch of enthusiasm. Mr. Bryan's tour of the state has been a potent factor in bringing about this result. He spoke to probably 50,000 on his two days' trip. Many old and experienced politicians say the demonstration in Oklahoma City Tuesday night was the greatest thing of the sort they had ever seen. It was in marked contrast to the recent visit of Col. Roosevelt. Instead of the silent curiosity which greeted the third term candidate there was manifest throughout Mr. Bryan's brief stay the greatest enthusiasm for him personally and for the Democratic cause. Thousands were massed about the Rock Island depot when his special train arrived, notwithstanding it was nearly an hour late. Other thousands lined the streets and cheered him as he passed on his way to the auditorium escorted by a torch light procession of a thousand torches. The auditorium had been jammed to its utmost capacity long before the arrival of the Bryan special and thousands crowded about the building filling the streets in front and on the side when Mr. Bryan arrived. He spoke for twenty minutes from an auto to the throngs that could not possibly get inside the doors of the auditorium. It was nearly ten o'clock when a way was forced through the jam of humanity that packed every available space in the auditorium, and Mr. Bryan began his speech.

The crowds that had been waiting patiently, the greater part of them since seven o'clock, showed that they were not there merely for curiosity, merely to get a sight of Mr. Bryan. They remained throughout his speech and when he concluded shortly before 12 o'clock the hall was still packed to standing room capacity. Several thousand people stood up throughout the entire speech of nearly two hours, and the consensus of opinion is that Mr. Bryan made one of the greatest efforts of his life. The speech was a masterly arraignment of the opposition and a scathing analysis of the career and character of the third term candidate.

TACT BETTER THAN COMMAND

Good Idea to Let "Less Criticism and More Comradship" Be Your Guiding Motto.

"Less criticism and more comradship," would be a helpful maxim for all homes.

It is easy enough to be pleasant to the casual acquaintance, but the great difficulty lies in being decent to those who are devoted to us—to those who are ever willing to forgive our shortcomings. There is no duty above treating your friends courteously and trying to illuminate the general monotony of the lives of those you love.

In home life tact will succeed often where command will fail. Suggestions will go farther than argument. Direction is so much better than dictation. Criticism of loved ones is a vice that takes possession of one like a stimulant, or a drug, once it is encouraged. It may begin in our so-called high moral standard and hatred of sin. But once it becomes a habit, it is indulged in for the satisfaction it gives.

An Eden can be ruined by constant fault-finding, selfishness, and withholding the words of praise. A paradise can be created by small kindnesses and by thinking sweet and helpful thoughts of those about you.

The next time you feel like criticizing a loved one, force yourself to say something complimentary to him instead.

Try it and see if you won't be happier.

Advocates Leaves of Soap.

A chemical friend of the Scientific American suggests that a campaign be started against the common cake of soap. About 50 years ago there was sold a form of soap for travelers, consisting of a booklet, about two inches by four inches, in which small leaves of soap paper saturated with soap were bound. Each leaf contained enough soap for one washing of the hands. It is suggested that one might profitably dispense, through a penny-in-the-slot machine, a paper towel in which is folded a sheet of soap paper, for convenient use in public lavatories.

SUSPENSIONS ARE NOT JUST

Patrons of Baseball Games Punished by League Executive When Players Are Taken Out.

The presidents of the American and National leagues should have learned by this time that it is unwise to punish the patrons and owners of clubs by suspensions, says the Chicago Evening Journal. Ban Johnson suspended Ed Walsh for five days and Tom Lynch suspended Tinker and Zimmerman for three days. These men are the star attractions of their respective clubs. A man pays his money to see Walsh or Tinker and Zimmerman play. When he reaches the ball park, he finds that they are out of the game because they have been suspended. When the star is unable to appear at a theater the management usually offers to refund the price of tickets. There is no refund at a ball park, although the fans are as much entitled to it under the circumstances as are theatergoers. The suspension of ball players should be stopped. The club owners have only to order their presidents to discontinue it. Suspending a ball player does not punish him, no matter how much he may deserve punishment. It does not punish him to give him a rest, but a fine of say $100 for foul or obscene language on the field would hurt him. If a player knew he would be hit in the pocket-book every time he used bad language on the field, the conversation on the ball field soon would be a model for drawing rooms. The underlying idea of suspensions—that of maintaining discipline and keeping order—can not be criticized. Order and discipline are absolute essentials, but it has been proved time and time again that suspension as a disciplinary measure is a failure. It punishes only the club owner and the fans—not the offending player. It is unfair to take games from one club and give them to another by suspending the most valuable players. The spirit of American sportsmanship rebels at such methods.

BIG FRENCHMAN FOOLED HIM

Pitcher Quinn Intentionally Passes Joe Jackson to Get at the Mighty Nap Lajoie.

For the first time since he has been a member of the Cleveland club, Nap Lajoie had the experience of seeing an opposing pitcher pass his predecessor at bat so he could take a chance at Lajoie. That happened in a recent New York game. There were two out, with Graney on third and Olson on second. Jackson had already procured a triple and a single. Quinn pitched carefully to him this time. He soon found himself in the hole and rather than try to get the ball over for Joe, deliberately pitched two wide ones and passed him, evidently preferring to take a chance on Lajoie. All the big Frenchman did was to drive in three runs.

Watkins' Good Work. Rube Watkins, the star portlander with the Sharon team of the O. & P. league, in 10 games fanned 101 batsmen, an average of 10 men a game. He has issued 25 bases on balls and has been touched up for 70 bingles. Watkins was sent to Sharon by Manager Bill Phillips of Youngstown, for development. It is understood that Cleveland has a string on the young pitcher.

Ban on Suspended Players. The national commission has put the ban on the Lake Shore league for taking up suspended players who were under the national agreement. Dahlgren of Cincinnati is playing at Escanaba and other association players include Stoney McGlynn of Milwaukee, Harry Selbert of Kansas City, and Ernest Groth of Columbus.

Brief Making Good. Anthony Brief, turned back by the St. Louis Browns, is playing great ball for Traverse City in the Michigan league, and is the chief hitting power of his team.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

Your 1912 tax was due November 1st, 1912.

If you want to pay your tax in halves without any penalty you will have to pay your first half before the first day of December, 1912, or you will have to pay penalty on the first half from Dec. 2, 1912, until paid.

If the first half is not paid before January 1st, 1913, all your tax becomes delinquent and will all have to be paid at one time with a penalty of 18 per cent per annum from January 1st, 1913, until paid. If one-half is paid before January 1st, 1913, you will have until June 15th, 1913, to pay the last half, without penalty. The law requires each and every taxpayer to furnish me with a list of his property when he comes to pay his tax or when he writes to find out what they are, for example; if it is personal property (which means all property other than real estate) give name of town or municipal township you were assessed in. For example: John Smith, personal tax in town of Stonewall, or Fitzhugh township or whatever town or township it might be in.

If you own town lots give me your Lot No., Block No. and name of town it is in or if in some one of the additions, of a town, give name of Addition and town. Example: Lot 1 in Block 2 in Frisco Addition to the town of Francis, Oklahoma.

If you own farm land give me the calls of your land, Sec. No. Township and Range. Example: SW 1/4 of Sec. 16, Twp. 2 North, Range 5 East, Fitzhugh Township.

Your 1911 tax receipt will be a good list but check it over and see that all your property is shown on it.

Trusting that each and every taxpayer will be kind enough to do as required, I am yours for the very best service I can render you.

RIT ERWIN,
County Treasurer.

P. S.—If you don't furnish list as required by law, when you write about your tax your letter won't be answered for I will not know what property you own, and if you don't have a list of your property when you come to pay your tax, the man who has his list will be waited on first and I will wait on you when there is no one waiting. 81w-26d

Saturday Speeches.

Last Saturday afternoon the voters of Roff and vicinity had a fill of speaking to do them for several weeks.

First to bat was Rev. W. D. Ingram, "Buckhorn Bill," who devoted most of his speech to skinning the Socialists. He had a large audience.

Next came Z. E. Sanders, candidate on the Republican ticket for county attorney. Zeb didn't state which kind of a Republican he was, but seemed inclined to stand pat. He also had a good audience.

Last and best of the speakers was R. C. Roland, candidate on the Democratic ticket for county attorney. We have heard Bob orate, full many a time and oft, but this was the best speech we ever heard him deliver. He also had a large audience.

All three of the gentlemen had frequent applause, but Bob got down next to the hearts of the people and it was easy to see that the crowd was to a large extent for him first, last and all the time.—Roff Eagle.

The many friends of A. L. Davis, the piano man with L. T. Walters, have missed his pleasant face for several days past. He writes from Kiowa to say that his wife is quite ill and that he cannot leave her bedside for some days yet.

SHERMAN'S FUNERAL

AT UTICA SATURDAY

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Arrangements for the funeral of Vice President James S. Sherman, practically were completed today. The services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church and will be attended by President Taft and members of his cabinet, senators and representatives, foreign diplomats and government officials.

It was first announced that the obsequies would be held in Christ church, of which Mr. Sherman was a member, but as this edifice seats only about 700 persons and it was realized it would be too small to hold the throng that would desire to pay a final tribute of respect to the dead, the plans were changed when the Rev. Ralph W. Brockaw offered the use of the Presbyterian church, which has a seating capacity of more than 3,000.

The Rev. Louis H. Holden, Mr. Sherman's pastor, will conduct the funeral services, assisted by the Rev. M. W. Stryker, president of Hamilton college, and the Rev. Dr. Brockaw, pastor of the Presbyterian church. An hour before the church services there will be a private service for members of the family at the Sherman residence.

The body of the vice president will lie in state from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. Friday in the rotunda of the county building to permit the citizens of Utica to take a last look at their distinguished fellow townsman.

PERSUADING MARY PROVED BIG JOB

By JUNE GAHAN.

"Have you spoken to Mary Agatha?" asked Mr. Dickson of his wife.

"You mean about Ford Layton?" "Yes—I happened to meet young Disbrow coming out of the gate and it set me thinking. I hope Mary won't be dazzled by Disbrow's glitter and flash and overlook the pure gold of Ford's character."

Mrs. Dickson shook her head. "I'm afraid she will, James—girls are that way."

"You were not—eh?" Mr. Dickson pinched his wife's plump cheek as he passed on into his study.

"Oh, there never was anyone just like you, James. I think Ford Layton comes nearer than anybody else. I wish Mary could see it in the same light."

"She seems to like him, too."

"The child is charming to him—only I'm afraid she is rather dazzled by Billy Disbrow."

"Agatha, my dear, suppose you just drop a word of advice—if she doesn't take it well, send her to me," suggested Mr. Dickson, as he left the room.

A moment later Mary entered, starry-eyed, lovely, graceful, her sweet lips set in a tender smile.

"All alone, Mommy?" she asked, as she dropped a light kiss on her mother's white hair.

"Yes, dear. Sit down here a moment, Mary," and Mrs. Dickson, with a wistful look at the starry eyes and the tender lips, sighed at the idea of giving up this sweet daughter to any one of the young men who persistently wooed her.

"Well?" asked Mary, expectantly.

"Billy Disbrow called this afternoon, didn't he, dear?" asked Mrs. Dickson, hesitatingly.

"Yes."

"I'm sorry, dear, but you are sure you are not making a mistake?" Mrs. Dickson stumbled over the words.

"I'm quite sure, Mommy," said Mary quietly, and just then she was called away and Mrs. Dickson stepped to the study door and spoke to her husband.

"Mary says she is sure she is not making any mistake, James," she said gravely. "If she really wants to marry Billy Disbrow we must do all we can to make her happy. He is not bad—merely weak."

"The deuce!" exclaimed Mary's father, frowning.

When Mary came into the study to tell him that dinner would be ready in fifteen minutes and there was barely time for him to dress, Mr. Dickson pulled his only daughter down on his knee.

"I met Billy Disbrow coming out of the gate, Mary—I hope you won't be foolish," he hesitated.

Mary looked at him with troubled eyes. "I suppose he is what you would call a good match," she murmured, unwillingly.

"Of course, you don't have to think of that, my dear."

"He's nice, too, father. He has a lovely disposition."

"Well—daughter, think it over, and don't decide hastily. I haven't seen Ford around lately. I'm sorry, too."

"Oh, you won't be—later—when you know!" she said quickly.

"Know what?" he asked, curiously.

"No, I can't tell you just now, father! Not until tomorrow. Do you know what day it is?"

"It's the twenty-fifth anniversary of our wedding day."

"What I've got to say will be your wedding gift from me," whispered Mary, and then she ran away.

While dessert was being served Mary was called away from the table by a ring at the telephone.

When the three elders were alone, Great-Aunt Becky spoke up.

"I saw young Billy Disbrow going away from here this afternoon. I hope Mary is not leading him a dance. I believe I will speak to her."

They were leaving the room when Aunt Becky asked Mary to help her into the big chair in front of the drawing-room fire. Mary's parents discreetly withdrew to another room. It was possible that Aunt Becky might accomplish where they had failed. She was an old lady of keen insight into human nature and a wide experience.

"My dear," began Aunt Becky, abruptly, "why under the sun are you going to marry Billy Disbrow?"

Mary started at her great aunt.

"But I'm not going to marry him," she said at last.

"Who are you going to marry, then?" demanded Aunt Becky, with very bright eyes.

"Ford Layton," confessed Mary, with crimson cheeks. "I've been trying to break the news to all of you, but you insist on urging me to marry Billy Disbrow—so I thought I'd wait until Ford—he's coming tomorrow—and I promised to tell before he came."

"My dear Mary, they were trying to warn you against young Disbrow!" exclaimed Aunt Becky, delighted beyond measure at this outcome. "You shall have my diamond chain for a wedding present!"

"Aunt Becky, you're a dear!" cried Mary, hugging her warmly. "I don't see how any one could dream of my caring for any one but Ford."

"What was young Disbrow doing here today?"

"I guess—he was here to hear me say 'No' to him," admitted Mary.

"And why did he telephone you tonight?"

"I rather think he wanted to hear me say it again," she smiled, ruefully. "Shall we go and tell father and mother?"

Pretty Mothers

Health is the foundation of all good looks. The wise woman realizes this and takes precautions to preserve her health and strength through the period of child bearing. She remains a pretty mother by avoiding as far as possible the suffering and dangers of such occasions. It is for external application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. ## BRIDGES OF THE INDIANS

Structures Found in North British Columbia Are Built on the Cantilever Principle.

Some interesting examples of Indian ingenuity are afforded on the River Skeena and its tributaries in North British Columbia, according to a writer in Scientific American. These waterways in their upper reaches flow swiftly and for the most part through deep ravines. As it is impossible for the Indians to cross them by means of canoes they have resorted to bridging.

Their bridges are interesting structures from the engineering point of view, inasmuch as the cantilever principle is adopted. A bridge of this design spans the Bulkley river where it is about 120 feet wide, and the height from the bridge to the water level is about 80 feet.

It is built of wooden logs, the logs of the structure being formed of single stout logs varying from 60 to 80 feet in length. The task of lowering them into position must have demanded considerable ingenuity on the part of the builders.

They are buried some 15 feet at their lower ends and anchored by the superimposition of masses of large rock rolled and carried to the site. The longitudinal members of the shore spans are similarly buried in the ground and lashed to the ends of the diagonal logs.

When the bridge was first erected the different members were simply secured together by willow thongs, but when the British Columbian government erected a more substantial suspension bridge lower down the river the Indians assembled and followed the white man's operations with great interest. They observed how the thick wire cables were slung and anchored, and accordingly decided to introduce wire into their own structure.

They procured the material for this purpose from wherever they could and introduced it in a most fantastic manner. Also when the Grand Trunk Pacific railway engineers commenced working on their track near by the Indians procured odds and ends, such as bolts and spikes, from them for introduction in their bridge, so that now it is a strange looking piece of work, though the fundamental cantilever lines are still distinct.

Primitive Men of Giant Stature.

Eleven skeletons of primitive men, with foreheads sloping directly back from the eyes, and with two rows of teeth in the front of the upper jaw, have been uncovered at Craigshill, at Ellensburg, Wash. They were found about twenty feet below the surface, twenty feet back from the face of the slope, in a cement rock formation over which was a layer of shale. The rock was perfectly dry. The jaw bones, which easily break, are so large that they will go around the face of the man of today. The other bones are also much larger than those of the ordinary man. The femur is twenty inches long, indicating a man of eighty inches tall. The teeth in front are worn almost down to the jaw bones, due, it is believed, to eating uncooked foods and crushing hard substances with the teeth. The sloping skull shows an extremely low order of intelligence.

Would Make Natural Gas.

Sir William Ramsay, one of England's famous scientists, says there is absolutely nothing, so far as he can see, to prevent a bore-hole from being put down until the coal stratum is reached and the setting of the coal on fire by electricity, thus converting the coal in the bowels of the earth directly into gas. Air would be sent down to enable the coal to burn, the amount of air being restricted when sufficient heat had been engendered; steam would be sent down to provide a mixture of hydrogen and carbonic oxide, or water-gas; great gas engines would be mounted at the mouth of the pit or bore-hole, and the gas would be used to develop electric power.—Popular Mechanics.

Estimate Cost of Living.

The official bankruptcy department at Zurich, Switzerland, has just prepared, after careful study, a minimum wage tariff for both sexes. It is a curious document, attempting to prove what are the lowest sums upon which persons can live. The following are some of the tariffs per month which are considered absolutely necessary: Single men, $20; single women, $17.28; married couple without children, $19.92; with children up to six years of age, an increase of $1.44 per month for each child; children up to fourteen years, $1.92; and up to twenty years, $3.42 each per month. In this minimum official list are included life and illness insurance and doctors' fees.

Success and Its Friends.

When a man makes any kind of success, however small, he finds that his friends resolve themselves into three classes. The first class turn sullen, and show their envy in many mean ways. The second class wax more friendly than ever, and come showering their attentions. The third class show a reasonable pleasure at your success and remain just as they were before. God bless the last kind! God mend the second! and God pity the first!—Robert Nelson Stephens.

ATTENTION! Farmers! Stockmen!

To the farmers who have surplus feed, we suggest buying stock and feeding them.

To the stockmen who have surplus young stock, we advise keeping them, buying feed and getting the growth.

This bank is able and willing to advance money at VERY REASONABLE rates to any good farmer or stockman in Pontotoc County, for EITHER purpose.

Come in and talk the matter over with us.

Republicans May Nominate Hadley.

New York, Nov. 1.—The selection of a successor to Vice President Sherman as the Republican candidate to go before the Electoral College in January was the subject of an informal discussion today among members of the Republican National committee now in New York. Gov. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri has been advanced as the choice of several members of the committee, but no effort has been made as yet to settle upon a candidate.

Republican leaders here declare that no communication has been had with Gov. Hadley or any others whose names have been proposed as to their willingness to accept the post-election nomination, if offered them.
